“ My condolences on your loss. I only knew Chris as the guy who dropped off the donuts at the Galena Boulevard around 6:00 a.m., but age 44 is way to young to be gone. If it's any consolation, know that he was happy and doing something he enjoyed when he was called back to heaven.

“ I can remember when Chris first started helping out. His Dad would let him scrub the trays and baking pans. So here is little Chris with this big white apron and big scrub brush at the sinks. He was about 6 or 7 . There was more water on him and on the floor than in the sinks. He was so proud,he was getting to work at the bakery. This was at North Gate

May God Bless All of You

“ I can remember when Chris started helping at the bakery. His Dad would let him wash some of the trays and baking pans. So here is Little Chris around the age of 6 or 7 with this big white apron on big scrub brush at the big sinks scrubbing away. There was more water on the floor and on him than in the sinks. He was so proud. This was at the West Gate Store .

God Bless,All of you
