“ Dan or Danny as I grew up knowing you. The memories that I have of our childhood as cousins and friends were of some great times. You and I ruled the school, being the oldest kids in the bunch, we even had our chance to sit at the "adult" table before Chuck, Anthony or Kristine, during holiday times at Nana's house. I will cherish the great times we had as cousins growing up together. I will admit I am sad that we did not do more together in our adult years, except for a few years back at Easter at my Moms. You will be missed and I want you to know the memories will never fade. They always say the good die young and that could not be more true in this case. You will be in good hands in heaven with some fantastic people we know.

“ Danny, mom loves you so much. Your passing is something I will never get over. You are my 1st born son. My love for you will never die. I wish God would have taken me not my child. This just is so wrong. I pray you are at peace. You will be loved and so very missed all the days of my life. There is a piece of me missing now that you're gone. My heart aches without you. Mom will see you again in heaven.
