“ Today I bury the strongest man I have ever known. From him, I learned the meaning of dedication, doing things right the first time, how to give and not just take, to pull my own weight plus a little extra, how to fight for the under dog, and most of all, how to love without limits. Dad and I lived alone together during my awkward teenage years when everyone else gave up on me. Without his strength and firm belief in me, I do not believe I'd be the strong, outgoing and deeply dedicated woman I am today. My Dad has ALWAYS been my hero. RIP Daddy.

“ Jerry was such a dear sweet uncle. He was so much fun full of laughter and compassion for his friends and family. I will always treasure the times and memories we had together. like the times that we all played Rook with Bob and Helen Grandma and Grandpa and my father. I can still hear the laughter He will missed but his memory will always be with us. And for my Dear Aunt Pauline I know your sadness and heartbreak as I have had over the death of my wonderful wife Bonnie. Been a tough year for all of us. Rich Martin....
