“ Linda,

Please accept my most sincere condolences to you and your family on the passing of my Godfather José.

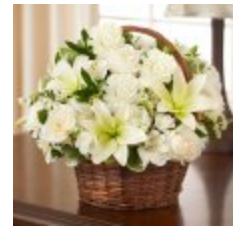

I fondly remember him helping me with a very crude electric motor project of my own design. He helped me figure out what was wrong with it. Rather than telling me what the problem was, he asked me questions about it's various parts and why I chose to make them that way. After many suggestions and trial and error, we managed to get it running, and I earned a passing grade in my science class. He will be missed.
