For Marlene

*Now that my time on earth has come to an end
Lay me to eternal rest in the endless fields of Iowa
Where the corn reaches up to touch the sky
And the back roads run forever
Lay me to rest beneath a sky filled with stars at night
And a sun so bright during the day
That you can feel it's warmth on your soul
When you walk by my resting place
Do not feel sad for I am where
I have always wanted to be
Look around to see what I feel
The gentle rise of a hill and a small dark pond in the distance
I have always been here in my thoughts
And now I return forever
Life can be short and troubled
But please know now that I am at peace
I have rejoined my parents and friends from old
There are no troubles here
No pain
No sorrow
Look there!
The butterfly dance over the field to welcome me
I have returned to my home
My Iowa*

“ Our sympathy is extended to the family of Marlene, my relative. Marlene's father, Eddie (mother maiden name Kerkhoff) Feilmeier, the oldest Kerkhoff 1st cousin and me, Joyce (father and maiden name Kerkhoff) Masching, the youngest Kerkhoff 1st cousin, knew each other and visited at anniversaries and family reunions. Marlene was at those same family occasions and she was always a friendly pleasant person. She had a very attractive smile. We are sorry you lost her so suddenly.
