“ I remember a woman who never stopped giving, working, sharing and loving all of her family. Her husband Ben, and each child. I remember her working almost nightly to help me with school work that I had trouble with. I remember a woman with seemingly endless patience, and one who supported me and defended me when I needed it. Who kept house, cared for all of us unendingly, and made our lives better every day.

“ Warm cinnamon bread, chocolate cake that remains unmatched, sweet corn found by dad and cooked by mom so juices dribbled down your chin as you ate. That was our mom. Our mom would spend hours making clothes that we knew were made with love. A lilac tree planted by mom that gave us beautiful flowers every year and tulips that I would pluck as soon as they blossomed with mom never mad that few were left to grace our lawn. Our mom shared dad’s love of stray pets and although we may have had too many, mom never complained. My mom knew that a little girl that stuttered just needed patience and time and she was generous with both. Our mom made us a spiritual family and we rejoiced with the Lord every week, while celebrating special holidays with her good food and extended family. Now as we lay her to rest next to her true love may she forevermore have peace and joy. God bless our mom.
